3. In October 1970, leaders of China and Canada, acting in the fundamental interests of the two countries and peoples, took the strategic decision to establish diplomatic relations between the two countries. It was a move that met the trend of the time and turned a new page in China-Canada relations. Since then, their bilateral relations have made remarkable achievements, thanks to efforts of both sides. The two countries have had frequent contacts at the top and other levels. They have carried out fruitful practical cooperation. Annual trade volume surged from a mere US$150 million in the early days of their diplomatic ties to US$29.7 billion in 2009.
